CRIMINAL ASSAULT ATTEMPTED.

A Negro Goes to a Jury for the Usual Crime-Other Police Cases.

Walter Traylor, a young married negro, will have to answer to a jury for the charge of attempted criminal assault upon a colored girl, named Emoline Harvey. This grave offence is alleged to have been committed Thursday night. The girl is a servant of Mr. Melton Cayce, and had gone to a dance. There she met Traylor, who accompanied her home. When at the house he attempted the assault, but the cries and resistance the girl made frightened him away. HE AUTHORIZES THE ANNOUNCE-MENT OF HIS CANDIDACY.

THE CAMPAIGN IN THE STATE.

sembly Must Be Made by Tuesday-Senator Daniel on the Situation-Colonel Wickham's Address.

Colonel John S. Harwood is a candidate for the mayoralty of Richmond His friends, and, in fact, the public generally, have known for some time that the popular Colonel was considering the advisability of entering the race against Hon. R. M. Taylor, but it was not until yesterday, when he was approached by a Dispatch man, and asked the point-blank question, that he made public announcement of his candidacy.

"Now that I have entered the race." said Colonel Harwood, after the all-important declaration had been made, "I also call upon all Republicans in the propose making a most active and aggressive campaign. I do not propose to have been nominated by the Republican the almost universal demand therefor, both in Virginia and in other States where our actions were being watched, a convention of Virginia Republicans assembled at Lynchburg, Va., on October 5, 187. This convention, composed of upwards of eight hundred delegates, all Republicans, tried and true, and representing every section of Virginia, with absolute unanimity determined that the great body of Virginia Republicans would not be willing to surrender their principles and retire from action before the first gun was fired, but demanded that a full gubernatorial ticket be placed in the field this fall. The convention then nominated as our standard-bearers Hon. P. H. McCauli, of Culpéper, for Governor; Hon. O. B. Roller, of Rockingham, for Lieuenant-Governor, and Hon. James Lyons, of Richmond, for Attorney-General—all true Republicans, devoted to the building up of our party in the State, and removing all factional differences.

The convention also selected the undersigned as chairman of the party; and, by virtue of the authority and trust thereby imposed, I hereby call on all true Republicans in this State to loyally support their ticket, and, coming to the polis on the 2d of November, show their devotion to the principles of Republicanism by their votes.

In order to insure against any such contingency as this, I called on Mr. Taylor and assured him of my cordial friendship, advising him, at the same dial friendship, advising him, at the same time, that it was my desire to run my campaign along friendly lines, and I am glad to say that he received me in the same spirit in which I went to him, and that no matter who wins, Dick Taylor and I will continue as we have been for years-warm friends."

The party's only danger lies in the overconfidence and apathy that xists among the voters, but the Senator expresses the hope that the army of speakers now on the stump will have the effect of arousing the lethargic ones, and predicts that if such be the result the legislative candidates will practically

SENATOR TILLMAN IS COMING.

He Will Speak in This City Two Weeks from Next Thursday.

Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, of South Carolina, who was recently invited by the Old Dominion Democratic Club to visit this city and deliver an address, has accepted the invitation, and appointed the 28th instant, as the day therefore: The following letter was received from Trenton, S. C., October 8, 1897.

W. H. Mullen, Esq., Richmond, Va.:
Dear Sir,—Your letter of October 1st found me in bed suffering with gastrointestinal catarrh, hence delay in answering. I appreciate to the fullest the compliment contained in the invitation of the Old Dominion Democratic Club to speak in Richmond, and only wish I could give an unequivocal answer. The disease from which I am suffering has produced jaundice, and thus far has yielded to treatment quite stubbornly, but I am mending and have reason to nope that I will be sufficiently recovered to comply with your wisnes. In order to give myself as much time as possible, I will name Thursday, October 28th, as the day, and nothing but physical disability will prevent my being with you on that date. I feel pretty sure that the disease will take such a turn by the 15th that I can give you notice in the event it shall then appear that I will not have the pleasure of meeting your people and you can arrange for some one else. It might be wise, any way, and I would not object in the slightest if you invite some other speaker, who might if I am well enough to be with you. I am, yours sincerely B. R. TILLMAN.

Those joining this party may leave New York for the return trip ofther Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday at 3 P. M., or Saturday at 4 P. The Feast of Succoth.

The Feast of Succoth.

The Jewish festival of Succoth, the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacies, begins this evening at 6 o'clock, and will last eight days. It is so called because the Israelites used to dwell in tents during the celebration of the holiday.

The Jewish date for Succoth is the 15th day of the seventh month Tishri, five days after the day of Atonement, and is the last of the fall holidays.

This was also called one of the Regolim or Pilgrimage festivals, because in ancient days, on it each male Israelite was expected to make a pilgrimage to Jerusalem for the purpose of celebrating it.

famous funeral oration, says that the whole earth is the burying-ground of famous men. This may not be literally true of every locality, but no one knows what bones of prehistoric heroes rest in the earth we walk over every day. The Eastern Shore was settled by Europeans early in the seventeenth century, probably about 1612 or 1615, and the history of this region prior to that time is a blank. If there had ever been any great men among the Indians on this side of the Chesapeake, neither history nor tradition has preserved their names, but among the early English inhabitants of the Eastern Shore there were many strong and picturesque characters, and foremost among them was Colonel Edmond Scarburgh, Surveyor-General of the Colony and Speaker of the House of Burgesses, but better known as the author of the remarkable report of his expedition against the "turbulent Quakers" that infested the northern part of Accomac in the region 'round about using the mails for fraudulent purpos Annamessex. Hon. Benjamin T. Gunter, Judge of the Circuit Court of this district, is in Baltimore, whither he went for medi-cal treatment. He was unable to hold the fall term of his court for this country, but expects to hold a special term in a few weeks.

Two revival meetings are going on in Onancock-one at the Northern Metho-dist church, where Evangelist Gordon R. Neese is assisting the pastor, the Rev. Henry S. Dulany; the other at the Baptist church, where the Rev. Georgt W. Hurt has the assistance of the Rev. Dr. G. F. Bagby, of Farmville, Va. The cool weather for the past two days has caused increased activity in the oyster trade. On Tangier Island the prospect for a prosperous season is more promising than for several years. Two new shucking- and packing-houses have recently been established there. Heretofore nearly all of this work has been done at the neighboring town of Crisfield, Md.

The Masons of Chesapeake Lodge on next Tuesday will lay the corner-stone of the Baptist church now building at Parksley. The Rev. Dr. A. E. Owen will deliver an address as the represen-tative of the church and Judge Plant tative of the church, and Judge Blackstone will speak as the representative of the Masonic Fraternity.

THE ECTETOURY FAIR.

The Attendance-A Financial Success-Political Notes.

Fair of Botetourt county closed yesterday evening. There were 700 people on the ground the first day, about 3,000 the second, and 500 or 600 the last day (Friday). The receipts at the gate will foot up over $800, which, added to privilege licenses, will make the fair a success finencially.

The stock and agricultural depart-ments fell below previous years, but the display of fancy, as well as useful, work in the ladies' building was superior in quality and style to any exhibits ever made in the same line at any of our county fairs. The ladies excelled in all

The Democratic candidate of this district for the Senate, S. H. Letcher, was on the ground, and putting in some of his best licks. He was accompanied by Mr. K. B. Stoner, our candidate for the House of Delegates. The canvass is progressing slowly, but surely, and old Botetourt will be all right this time.
